16.6 Security of personal information

- a. The Customer must take appropriate and reasonable technical and organisational measures to protect personal information against loss, damage, unauthorised destruction and unlawful access or processing. To do so, the Customer must:
 - i. identify all reasonably foreseeable internal and external risks to personal information in the Supplier's possession or under its control;
 - ii. establish and maintain appropriate safeguards against the risks identified;
 - iii. regularly verify that the safeguards are effectively implemented; and
 - iv. ensure that the safeguards are continually updated in response to new risks or deficiencies in previously implemented safeguards, having due regard to generally accepted information security practices and procedures which may apply generally or are required in terms of industry or professional rules or regulations (including those applicable to Cummins).

- b. The Supplier must, at its cost, comply with any specified steps required by Cummins to ensure the confidentiality and integrity of personal information.
- c. Where there are reasonable grounds to believe that personal information has been lost, damaged, accessed or acquired by any unauthorised person or that there has been a compromise of the Customer's security measures ('Data Breach'), the Customer must:
 - i. immediately notify Cummins and promptly provide full details of the Data Breach;
 - ii. co-operate with the Cummins in investigating the Data Breach;
 - iii. comply with any direction from Cummins to remedy the Data Breach and prevent its recurrence; and
 - iv. assist Cummins with any notice to the Information Regulator or data subjects that Cummins may make or any direction by the Information Regulator to publicise the Data Breach.

16.7 Cooperation and assistance

The Customer must, at its cost, provide all assistance required by the Cummins to comply with the Relevant Laws dealing with data protection or privacy, including:

- i. assisting Cummins with responding to any requests received from data subjects for access to, or correction or deletion of, their personal information which is being processed by the Customer. If the Supplier receives such a request from a data subject, it must immediately notify the Cummins in writing and deal with the request only as instructed by Cummins;
- ii. assisting Cummins with any investigation or assessment conducted, or direction given by, the Information Regulator in relation to personal information processed by the Customer; and
- iii. making available to Cummins or its auditors on request all relevant documents and information and providing access to its premises on reasonable notice, for the purpose of verifying the Customers compliance with this clause 16.7.

16.8 Retention and destruction

- a. If directed by Cummins, the Customer must implement retention and destruction policies and procedures for personal information that are required under the applicable data protection laws or any Company policy.
- b. Except as required by law or agreement between the Parties, the Customer must return or destroy (at the Company's direction) all personal information:
 - i. when it is no longer required for purposes of this Agreement;
 - ii. on termination of this Agreement for any reason;
 - iii. if required by law; or
 - iv. at Cummins request at any time.

16.9 Indemnity

The Supplier indemnifies Cummins against any Losses arising out of or in connection with the Customers breach of the Relevant Laws dealing with data protection or privacy or this 16.
